

OkCupid | Conversation with LookingforTriad

Messages

Received Sent IM History Message Older

  Yeah, right. Feb 9, 2014 - 3:19pm

My name is , and I was looking at your profile and photos, thanks for posting and being so descriptive. I enjoyed reading your profile, and thought wouldn't it be a shame if I didn't say hello. We're a male/female couple, and we could be interested in a relationship with a woman. Our profile classification can be a bit confusing until you realize that OKCupid won't allow a couple to classify itself as a couple. From my vantage point I see a lot of crossover with you, but of course you may see things from a different perspective. We're older and an established couple, etc. Our profile is pretty descriptive of who we are and what we're about. Sorry for the lack of photos, but we'd be happy to send more descriptive photos to a regular e:mail address. We expect that you are looking for something different than us. We've been rejected before, but it is always nice to have an exchange, it makes the internet a more human space. May all of y(our) dreams come true.

 Real subtle, bro.

A totally unique experience, of course.

Message from  Match Block her Report